

Thijmen Peters

Curriculum Vitae

I was born 20 years ago in the Netherlands. Already, at a young age I developed a passion for drawing and painting. In high school, I learned more about digital tools as Photoshop. With those skills, I began creating posters, school papers, video's and other experiments to become better in this field. I had so much pleasure in creating things that I was sure to pursue a study related to design after my graduation at high school.

I have a huge interest in graphic design and I love to delve into different subjects. In my work, I try to combine those two things with the goal to inform people and to catch their attention. Besides translating information, I love to experiment with graphic design and typography.
